Dear Policyholder,

This is a notice that, on the date that your current policy's coverage ends, your policy will be non-renewed through Western National Assurance Company and will be offered instead through Western National Mutual Insurance Company (a separate affiliate company). The only action required on your part is to pay the premium, just as you would if your policy were being renewed. This is, in effect, just a transfer between two of the Western National Insurance Group's subsidiary companies as part of a market realignment for those companies. You should experience no change in service quality, coverage, or any other policy feature as a result of this transfer.

Both Western National Mutual Insurance Company and Western National Assurance Company are members of the Western National Insurance Group, sharing the same management and underwriting offices. The Western National Insurance Group is a super-regional group serving the property-and-casualty insurance needs of individuals, families, and businesses. Our Group's insurance products are sold exclusively through professional Independent Insurance Agents in select states in the Midwestern, Northwestern, and Southwestern U.S.

Non-Renewal

This is a Notice of Non-Renewal of your current policy and the coverage it provides. Coverage under a new Western National Mutual Insurance Company policy will begin on the same date coverage under your current policy ends, provided you pay the required continuation premium.

Your Independent Insurance Agent and Western National Mutual Insurance Company will work with you to review current coverage and address additional insurance needs for the next policy term. Your coverage will continue, and you will retain the business relationship you have with your current agent.
